It's Just 'Dandy'

Mrs. Lorraine Baldwin, beautician of Pamplin Beauty Shop, returned from Virginia's Hair Dressers Show in Roanoke, with news of the "Dandy." She says it's a great change in hair fashions — the "small head look." Day lire of the "Dandy" features a smooth top and slightly full sides. The crown shows a gentle rise with hair brushed down softly covering the ears with soft waves. Evening line for the "Dandy" converts into a rising crown of wave curls. The "Dandy" is the overall name for new hair fashions selected as a tribute to the elegant dandies of the last century.

Appomattox County Library

"A picture is a poem without words" — Horace

The Appomattox County Library is the beneficiator of a loan of six outstanding art books by the courtesy of Hattie O'Brien. Miss O'Brien, a native of Appomattox, and a graduate of Appomattox High School, has served with the United States Department for the past twenty years. During these years she has served in various outstanding positions in such places as Austria, Africa and more recently in Bonn, Garmany. It was in Germany, where Miss O'Brien secured the lovely art books most of which are written in either French or German. The titles of the books are as follows: Picasso, Oeuvres des Musees de Leningrad et de Moscou; Memling, Hans — a book of Artist in Bruges circa 1430-1494; Kunst Fern er Lander — a book of Oriental art [illegible] Paintings From The Vienna Museum of Art; The French Impressionists; Musee de Versaille — (201 pages of reproduction of such artists as Van Eyck, Rubens, Frans Hals, Rembrandt, Robbems, Reynolds, Le Greco, Velasquez, Bellini, Gentile, Toulouse - Lautrec, Gaugin, Renoir, Cezanne, Degas, Corot, Raphael, Botticelli and numerous others.

It would be impossible to describe the beauty of the above books — not to mention the financial cost of them. They re- The size and weight of them present some of the most expensive titles whose cost would prevent the average library budget to purchase. Our library is indeed grateful to Miss O'Brien for the loan of the books and we invite you to come to the library to see them. They may be checked out with special permission. The size and weight of them would make regular circulation of them rather difficult.

And now for a new book or two for your fall reading, may we suggest:

My Darling Clementine; the story of Lady Churchill by Jack Fishman. Although hundreds of books have been published about the famous Churchill, this is the first volume in print about Lady Churchill of No. 10 Downing Street — from her first meeting with the young Churchill and his proposal to her in the gardens of Blenheim Palace, the story of Clemtine and the Churchill covers their lives together.

Ken One's Own Soul: Frank C. Laubach, friend to millions by Marjorie Medary. Frank Laubach, born in Pennsylvania, trained as a sociologist and as a missionary, found his first life's work during his years in the Philippines. He discovered that halfwild Moros of the Interior had never had a written language— and so began his work of organizing a simple system of charts and key words — in the years since, he has helped to prepare lessons based on the same method in over 25 tongues and dialects."

Attention Fans!

Everyone loves a good football game, especially if your favorite team wins. But even if your team loses, you fans will continue to support the team. Make these football nights memorable — but not unpleasantly. No one likes to hear or see a crowd showing bad sportsmanship —for instance, booing when things do not go the way you want them to. In the future, let's build appomattox a good reputation, with all supporting fans showing good sportsmanship.
